DARROW BLOCKS PROSECUTION'S REBUTTAL PLAN

He Refuses To Let State Alienists Examine Navy Lieutenant

BULLETIN
Honolulu, Apr. 23 (AP)—Announcing it was ready to proceed with an attempt to prove Lieut. Thomas H. Massie was sane at the time he held the weapon that killed Joseph Kahahawai, the prosecution in the trial of Massie and three others accused of the slaying went into action today after a two day delay.

Honolulu, Apr. 23 (AP)—Circumvention of the insanity defense of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie was attempted today by Prosecutor John C. Kelley under a handicap Clarence Darrow declined to lift.

Darrow, aged leader of the defense of the four persons accused of lynching Joseph Kahahawai, refused to permit Kelley's alienists to put the young Navy officer under observation.

Montgomery Winn, Darrow's assistant, said:

"We don't contend Mr. Massie is insane now, so we fail to see why their examination of him is necessary."

Kelley said he believed Massie never was insane and he hoped, with testimony of alienists, to convert the jury of his belief.

Marshaling his forces for resumption of the trial after two days of delay, the Prosecutor said he would ask the court to instruct the jurors that the accused guard could be convicted of second degree murder, as charged, even though the jury might believe Massie was mentally deranged when he held the pistol that killed the native.

No Compulsory Law

Kelley had counted upon the alienists, Dr. Joseph Catton of San Francisco and Dr. Paul Bowers of Los Angeles, for testimony to offset that of defense alienists who pronounced Massie insane at the moment Kahahawai allegedly sat before him and admitted attacking Mrs. Thalia Massie, his wife.

Mrs. Thalia Massie, his wife, is no territorial law compelling the defense to subject Massie to a prosecution examination.

Although Kelley's immediate problem was the opening of the rebuttal, he asserted one of the hardest battles of the spectacular case would be over the instructions to the racially varied jury.

He said he expected the defense to ask that the jury might include among its possible findings a dictum of "not guilty by reason of insanity" but that he would fight this contention.

Darrow spent yesterday preparing proposed instructions to the jury, but refused to reveal their nature. The defendants went for an outing at the beach.

DAYLIGHT TIME EFFECTIVE IN MANY PLACES

Clocks Will Be Set Ahead One Hour At 2:00 A. M.

New York, Apr. 23 (AP)—Daylight saving time will be upon us at 2 A. M. tomorrow or at least upon some 142,000,000 living in the United States and Europe.

Canada will come in, too, on May 1 and then the savers of sunlight will number approximately 145,000,000.

France set its clocks up on April 1, Portugal on April 2, Belgium on April 3 and Great Britain on April 17. Holland will start on May 22 and keep the time that way for five months.

Brazil and Chile have already had their little fun with the clocks. Both of them went back to standard time on April 1, after five months of early rising.

Not all of the United States will observe the practice. Some states have laws forbidding it. The Merchants Association of New York reports that stores, offices, and banks in 23 cities in Connecticut will pay no attention to the law there. The same goes for fifteen cities in Maine.

Massachusetts and Rhode Island will go daylight saving 100 per cent and Ohio has already accomplished the same thing by putting itself totally in the eastern time belt.

New York will have 199 cities and towns on daylight saving time and in Rochester, where a referendum resulted in a majority favoring Standard Time, many industrial concerns have decided to move their clocks up anyway.

New Jersey cities and towns on the new time will be 118 strong. Illinois will have Chicago and 21 others, Indiana 8 with industrial plants in three others observing, and Pennsylvania 21, plus the large factories and offices in Sharon.

REWARD FOR FUGITIVE
Springfield, Ill., Apr. 23 (AP)—Governor Louis L. Emmerson today announced reward of $50 for capture of Alton D. Parker, alias Danny Brown, who escaped from Southern Illinois penitentiary Apr. 21.

Parker was sentenced for robbery with a gun by the Circuit Court to a ten to life term.

Tried To Get Copy Of His Own Death Certificate

Willard Connors, 22, Was In The City Prison Here Today Because He Tried To Get A Copy Of His Own Death Certificate

Springfield, Ill., April 23 (AP)—Willard Connors, 22, was in the city prison here today because he tried to get a copy of his own death certificate.

Connors, an alleged parole violator from Pontiac reformatory, was arrested after police had been informed by a local undertaking establishment that he had appealed several times in a effort to get a certificate of his own death.

Police learned members of his family identified the body of a youth who drowned last September in the Illinois river at Hardin as that of Willard Connors. Later government officials informed police here fingerprints of Connors and a youth giving the name of Edward Price, arrested in Sacramento, Cal., were identical.

Connors told police that when he walked into his home here last week his mother fainted. "She said she thought I was dead, but I didn't know what it all was about, so I thought I would get my death certificate in order to collect some insurance."

Police records here show Connors was arrested in 1927 on a larceny charge and was sentenced to Pontiac. He was released on parole, July 1931. He spent a few weeks at his home here and then left to work in Hardin. When a description of a youth drowned at Hardin was printed here, his mother, Mrs. Edward Hawks said the dead body was that of her son.

Urged Stamp Tax Against Hunters

Chicago, Apr. 23 (AP)—A stamp tax proposal to put the cost of conserving and propagating migratory waterfowl "on the man who shoots migratory birds" has been laid before the Izaak Walton League of America by Senator Harry B. Hawes of Missouri.

He told delegates to the league's national convention last night enough revenue could be obtained to finance duck refuges and breeding grounds simply by requiring every migratory bird hunter to purchase a special stamp at the post office to place on his state hunting license.

Of that revenue, he said, $1,000,000 could be applied annually by the Federal government to the purchase of sanctuaries, rest places and breeding grounds. $250,000 for Federal enforcement of conservation laws and $250,000 for administration, including experiments.

Senator Hawes said he was against spring shooting and favored limiting the open season for waterfowl to 45 or 60 days between Oct. 1 and Jan. 1 and the daily bag to 15.

Darrow spent yesterday preparing proposed instructions to the jury, but refused to reveal their nature. The defendants went for an outing at the beach.

CAPONE'S NAME AGAIN HEARD IN LINDBERGH CASE

However Gang Lord In Jail Denies Offering To Bargain

Hopewell, N. J., April 23 (AP)—The Lindbergh kidnaping mystery, now 53 days old, continued today to baffle attempts at solution.

The highlight of the past 24 hours was a high official's statement that Al Capone had offered a flat guarantee to effect Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.'s return in a few days if he were released temporarily from the prison cell he occupies in Chicago. The gangster chief denied making the offer.

The same high official said he believed Col. Charles A. Lindbergh personally had re-established contact with persons who mugged him of a $50,000 ransom payment recently and then ran out on their promise to return the kidnapped child.

Two of the bills which the ransom was paid turned up in Havana, Ill., dispatches from there said.

AL WOULD AID

Chicago, April 23 (AP)—Revived reports that "Scarface Al" Capone had offered to effect the return of the Lindbergh baby if he were released from custody sent reporters to the county jail where the gang leader is awaiting appeal to the United States Supreme Court on his conviction and eleven years sentence.

Capone refused to see the newspapermen but responded to a note that was sent up to his cell. He denied that he had made any such offer but repeated his statement of several weeks ago that if liberated he would do all in his power to restore the child to the Lindberghs.

SENATOR'S COMMENT

Washington, April 23 (AP)—Senator Bingham (R. Conn.) said in the Senate today that the fact that Al Capone has twice offered to find the kidnapped Lindbergh baby if released from custody, lends support to the belief the kidnaping "has been done by friends of Capone for this very purpose."

The Senator said that color also was lent to this belief by "the fact that he has been necessary to turn to gangsters" for aid in recovering the child.

Bingham described Capone as a gangster leader who made his money out of beer rackets and bootlegging. He said, however, he did not believe the Lindbergh kidnaping was entirely due to prohibition but added he felt Congress must "face the fact" that the dry laws "have made enormous profits available to gangsters and racketeers."

70,000 Eggs Were Scrambled Quickly

Approximately 70,000 fresh eggs were reduced to the varied states of scrambling in record time yesterday afternoon on the Lincoln Highway, a half mile west of Ashton when an Iowa produce truck, headed for Chicago laden with cases of fresh eggs came to grief, when a rear axle snapped, causing the heavily laden truck to turn over and spilling the contents. The cargo was insured and many from the vicinity of Ashton got to work at once salvaging the unbroken eggs, while the truck was righted and repaired. The driver escaped uninjured. It was reported that cars passing the scene shortly after the accident, halted long enough to load up and haul away a few cases of the eggs.

Gets Lee County's Share School Fund

County Superintendent of Schools L. W. Miller this morning received from the office of State Auditor Oscar Nelson at Springfield, a check in the sum of $25,465.57, representing Lee county's payment in part of the state distributive school fund from the 1931 tax collections. An additional amount, $15,884.17 is to be paid the Lee county schools following the collection of Cook county's share of the last year's taxes.

The sum received today is to be paid to the treasurers of the various school districts of the county as soon as computations are made in Superintendent Miller's office.

Death Sentence Of McWilliams Is Set Aside Today

Springfield, Ill., Apr. 23 (AP)—The death sentence imposed on Russell Robert McWilliams for the murder of William "Cap" Sayles, a street car conductor in Rockford, last August was reversed by the Illinois Supreme Court today. The case was sent back to the Winnebago county Circuit Court for retrial.

Howard C. Bonham of Evansville, Ind., must die in the electric chair June 17 for the murder of Paul Tulipan in Chicago on Dec. 13, 1930, the court decided today.

There are about 800 men in the British coast guard service protecting about 5000 miles of coast line.

A Heart Attack Is Fatal To Railroad Man In Nelson Yard

James Egan, a former employee of the North Western section crew in the Nelson yards and well known in Nelson and Sterling, was stricken with a heart attack while walking through the yards last evening shortly before 6 o'clock and died almost instantly. The aged man was walking between the rails of the west bound main line track when stricken and his body slumped between the rails about 1,000 feet east of the railroad bridge over Rock river. Members of a west bound freight crew and the crew of the Dixon switch engine removed the body from between the rails and notified the sheriff's office here.

The body was removed to the Staples mortuary in this city where an inquest was held this afternoon at 1:30 by Coroner P. M. Banker of Franklin Grove. The deceased had for several years been employed at intervals in the Nelson yards and was last seen alive about two hours before the body was found. He is believed to have gone to Sterling yesterday afternoon and apparently had just returned to Nelson when he was stricken. He is said to have a brother and other relatives residing in Sterling, who were expected to come to Dixon today to take charge of the remains.

PILLOW SLIP IS AN IMPORTANT CLUE IN CLARK DEATH

Investigation Continued In Shooting In Miami, Fla.

BULLETIN.
Miami, Fla., April 23 (AP)—A comely young woman added mystery to the fatal shooting of Haden Clarke in the home of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller by appearing at the office of States Attorney H. Vernon Hawthorne today with the claim that she, rather than the Australian aviatrix, was Clarke's fiancée.

The committee adjourned until Monday to determine a future policy. William A. Gray, committee counsel, said he would seek permission to call Raskob and all others mentioned by Bragg and Smith.

No attempt was made today to get the extent of Smith's and Bragg's short operations. They were sole members of a pool in Lima Locomotive with Percy Rockefeller.

The Anaconda Copper pool was on the long side of the market early in 1929 and lasted more than six months.

Intrigues of pool operations were explained to the Senate investigators by Edward Knight, an expert accountant, who named Meehan as "the specialist in the Radio pool of 1929."

Senator Brookhart (Repn. Ia.) asked Knight whether the principal business of the exchange was not "in betraying the public," the witness told him "in a way."

The party stand on prohibition coincided with the views expressed by the speakers at the convention—Judge Henry Horner, gubernatorial nominee; Bruce Campbell, chairman and keynoter; Michael L. Igoe and Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago; William H. Dietrich, senatorial nominee; and Scott Lucas.

These men, winners and losers in the primary, all agreed that factional difference be discarded and that the party unite for a vigorous battle against the "common enemy."

Banking Planks

"We favor revision of the banking laws of this state to the end that banking institutions be limited to banking business. They should be restricted in their affiliations with any investment corporations or associations. All banks should be thoroughly and frequently examined and only men of character should be allowed to engage in that business."

Wedding And Two Divorces On Card

Judge Harry Edwards officiated at the wedding of Elwood Britton of Gilmanton, Wis., and Mrs. Lois Hartman of Mondovi, Wis., at his chambers in the court house this morning at 10 o'clock and at 10:30 had granted two decrees for divorce in the Circuit Court. Mrs. Ella Prunty of Amboy was granted a decree and the custody of her three children by the court from Ray Prunty, cruelty and desertion being charged.

Mrs. Ruby Bell Hickerson of this city in her bill for divorce from Louis B. Hickerson, charged that he assaulted her with a butcher knife, a broom and a pair of brass knuckles, and she was granted a decree by Judge Edwards which entitled her to resume her maiden name, Ruby Bell. A local attorney appeared for the plaintiffs in both cases.

He ordered special equipment in each case and was to call later for the machine. In each instance he presented checks made out on the Darlington, Wis., bank for sums in excess of $100 in payment for the equipment and was successful in obtaining cash for the odd amount falling to return for the cars.

BETTER HOMES WEEK

Washington, April 23 (AP)—President Hoover today urged all citizens to "share wholeheartedly in observance of the week beginning April 24 as national Better Homes Week."

CHAIRMAN DEM. NAT. COMMITTEE A PARTICIPANT

Pool Was Organized In 1929 Witness Tells Senate

Washington, April 23 (AP)—Two big bear operators on Wall Street today disclosed to the Senate Banking committee nation ally prominent names as having been members of various pools in the market, including that of John J. Raskob, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Thomas E. Bragg and Bernard E. Smith ended a search for themselves by appearing suddenly. They held a packed committee room and an intent committee in rapid attention as some of the story of Wall Street's gigantic operations was drawn from them by examination.

Smith and Bragg readily conceded they were "big short operators."

Bragg told of a $30,000,000 pool in Anaconda copper which he operated disastrously in 1929. He said Raskob, W. C. Durant, Fred J. Fisher, W. F. Kenny, M. J. McEahan, Percy Rockefeller and other prominent persons were in the big pool.

Bragg said he put up $500,000 for this pool and lost $400,000 when the price dropped and forced dissolution of the pool.

Used Wives' Names

Smith startled the committee when he denied previous testimony that M. J. Meehan was both a specialist and member of the Radio pool of 1928 and 1929. Under examination, he explained that Meehan used his wife's name as a member of that pool.

Smith, who is a member of the Stock Exchange, also said he used his wife's name as a member of the Radio pool.

Senator Glass (D. Va.) previously had stated any man who was a specialist in a stock and operated a pool in it "would pick pockets."

The committee adjourned until Monday to determine a future policy. William A. Gray, committee counsel, said he would seek permission to call Raskob and all others mentioned by Bragg and Smith.

PLATFORM FOR DEMOCRATS WAS ADOPTED FRIDAY

Repeal Of Eighteenth Amendment Is Its Main Plank

Springfield, Ill., April 23 (AP)—The Democratic party will campaign in Illinois next fall on a platform calling for repeal of the eighteenth amendment, reduction of the costs of government and revision of the state banking and security laws.

The principles on which the nominees will base their pleas for election in November were set forth at the close of the state convention late yesterday. Their adoption was unanimous, like every other action of the gathering, and not a single rift marred the spectacle of harmony.

Reduction of government expenditures "to the lowest possible figure consistent with efficient public service" was given top position on the platform and the convention followed up with the assertion that "the tax load on real estate and industry must be lifted so that not a single dollar of taxes be collected except for indispensable governmental service."

But it was prohibition that was given the lion's share of space. "The eighteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States and all laws passed pursuant to it should be repealed," read the Democratic plank. There followed the reasons that repeal would improve economic conditions and restore moral standards; that legalized sale of liquor would give employment to more than a million men; create a market for agricultural products and create governmental revenue in excess of one billion dollars; and that it would end the "war of the underworld on the rest of society."

Demand Modification

"Pending the repeal of the eighteenth amendment we demand such modification of the Volstead act as will bring immediate relief from its oppressive effects," the platform continued.

"We believe that the states should control and regulate the manufacture the sale of intoxicating liquors, reserving to the federal government the right to regulate in proper cases the transportation of it."

"We believe that the legalized liquor industry and commerce should become a substantial source of revenue for the state and federal government."

"We are definitely committed to the proposition that the Illinois search and seizure law should be repealed without delay and that necessary measures should be enacted for state regulation of the liquor traffic to be operative whenever federal prohibition shall be abated."

The party stand on prohibition coincided with the views expressed by the speakers at the convention—Judge Henry Horner, gubernatorial nominee; Bruce Campbell, chairman and keynoter; Michael L. Igoe and Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago; William H. Dietrich, senatorial nominee; and Scott Lucas.

These men, winners and losers in the primary, all agreed that factional difference be discarded and that the party unite for a vigorous battle against the "common enemy."

"We favor revision of the banking laws of this state to the end that banking institutions be limited to banking business. They should be restricted in their affiliations with any investment corporations or associations. All banks should be thoroughly and frequently examined and only men of character should be allowed to engage in that business."

"We pledge ourselves to revise and vitalize the securities laws of our state to the end that the investing public be safeguarded as far as possible."

The party further pledged itself to battle "unsocial elements," consolidate local tax levying bodies, safeguard civil service rights, propose and support a constitutional amendment to change the character of taxes and the mode of levying them, build state roads, aid in the reestablishment of agricultural credit and in the finding of markets for the products of the farm, enact laws calculated to compel the balancing of budgets of all governments within the state.

The convention put itself on record as favoring home rule for cities and counties desiring it; revision and reclassification of the penal laws, complete reorganization of prisons and welfare institutions, speeding up of public improvements, encouragement of reforestation, and ratification of the gateway amendment to the state constitution.

APPROVE BRIDGE PLANS.

Washington, April 23 (AP)—The War Department has approved plans of the Illinois Department of Public Works for a bridge across the Illinois river near Seneca.

World United In Paying Honor To Bard Of Avon

Stratford-on-Avon, Eng., April 23.—(AP)—William Shakespeare was honored by the world today as the home town boy who made good when the Prince of Wales opened the new and modernistic Shakespeare Memorial Theater, here.

Here Shakespeare lived and loved and here he died. And here he lies buried under a simple stone in Holy Trinity church. Tradition has it that this was both his birth and death day.

Great and near-great made pious pilgrimages here today, but all seemed dim against the luster of the butcher's son who wrote pieces for the theater 300 years ago.

The Prince of Wales made a speech and unfurled the King's flag. An ode, composed for the occasion by John Masefield, poet laureate, was recited.

In the afternoon, after the ceremonies, the permanent Shakespeare Company presented Part I of Henry IV. This evening the second part will be given.

GIFT TO NATION
Washington, April 23.—(AP)—Sheer white marble walls of a jewel-like building in the shadow of the Library of Congress and the Capitol drew eminent scholars and officials today to the dedication of a priceless gift to the nation, the Folger Shakespearean Library.

President and Mrs. Hoover headed the group invited to the exercises by trustees of Amhurst College who, under the will of the late Henry Clay Folger, Standard Oil magnate and scholar, will have perpetual charge of his enormous valuable collection of the works of the Bard of Avon and other Elizabethans.

Two years in the building, the library is considered one of the finest small structures in the Capital. Conforming to no set style of architecture but harmonizing with Washington's new federal buildings, the exterior is very plain, to the point of homeliness, the walls marked simply with carved quotations and bas relief scenes from Shakespeare's plays.

Inside, it is pure Tudor, even to an Elizabethan theater which presents the stark simplicity of the stage in that day. In one corner is a study which Folger had designed for his own use. He died in June, 1930, just two weeks after the cornerstone was laid.

The collection of books, assembled by Folger and his wife in 50 years of patient work, includes 20,000 volumes of Shakespeare's works alone, all of them reputed first editions or volumes with the special associations and value. A collected first folio in this group has been valued at $100,000. In addition there are some 75,000 books of Elizabethan writers, volumes on Shakespeare, and numerous art objects.

Folger, while making the library a national gift, purposely kept it separate from the government, turning to his own college for its care. He left a $10,000,000 fund for its maintenance. The building and the site having cost $2,000,000. Extensive provision was made for scholars' research as well as preservation of the collection.

Long Rifle—Stewart Edward White

The long rifle which a gunsmith gave to Daniel Boone falls to a young trapper who is the hero of this tale of America moving westward. Just as the six-shooter typifies the cowboy era, so the long rifle stands for the adventurous half century before 1850.

Heat Lightning—Hull
This story embraces the events of one brief summer when Amy fled from the city, her husband, and the menacing shadows of evil to the small town of her parents. Out of the drama of small town life Amy gains maturity and direction for her own problems.

White Pants Willie—Elmer Davis
When Sloanstown sneered at Willie's attempt to introduce Chicago fashions, Willie realized how the home town limited an ambitious man. Bumping his way, he arrived in Florida at the height of the boom, equipped with good looks, confidence and a few cents in the pockets of his best clothes.

A trivial but amusing story. Paris Love—Nina Wilcox Putnam
Not meant to tax the brain rather to while away an hour or two pleasantly.

Old Wine and New—Warwick Deering
The author of "Sorrell and Son" writes the story of Scarsdale, who ensnared by his own illusions and the glamorous beauty of Julia, thought that true love at last was his. Then into his life came Eleanor.

Magnolia Street—Louis Golding
This novel tells the tale of a small street in London called Magnolia Street. The Jews live in the odd-numbered houses on the south side of the street, the Gentiles live opposite in the even-numbered houses. Now the space that divided the two sides was a matter of thirty feet or so, but it might have been a broad sea, so strange to each other did these folk seem. But there were moments and perlods when they were as one, either all of them publicly, or a few of them secretly.

Garden Making and Keeping—Findlay

In so far as it is possible to catch between two covers of moderate size, the almost innumerable facts and suggestions which are welcomed by beginners, Mr. Findlay has achieved a success. Beginning with the making of the lawn, he takes up paths, border planting, wall and rock gardens, pools and aquatic plants, bird gardens, bulbs, annuals and biennials, perennial borders, trees, shrubs, giving advice throughout about soil, color and arrangement. Excellent diagrams, charts and illustrations.

Snakes of the World—Ditmars
A very readable book by the curator of the New York Zoological Park who for thirty years has been in charge of an extensive series of reptiles gathered from near and remote places. There are 83 plates of large, clear illustrations ranging through the harmless reptiles and presenting extensive photographic details of dangerous serpents.

How to be a Clubwoman—LeCron and McElroy
Every type of club woman will find this book a complete and useful manual. The authors discuss the duties of the club president and other administrative officers, and describe ways to develop each office to its fullest usefulness and influence. A host of other topics—handling committees, writing papers, making speeches, good manners, the Parent-Teachers Association, reading club, athletic club, home economics, publicity, etc.—are likewise covered in this volume, which further includes a model constitution.

To Celebrate Sixtieth Anniversary Monday
Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Perkins will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary with open house at the home of their son, I. H. Perkins on Monday in Harmon.

Mr. and Mrs. Perkins, who were married 60 years ago in Michigan both came from a long line of colonial people. When Mr. Perkins was a boy four or five years of age he sojourned with his parents from Jefferson, New Hampshire, and settled in Harmon township on a farm in 1854. I. H. Perkins, the father of N. R. Perkins, built the first house in the township which is known as the "Little" house which stood until just recently on the land known as W. D. Parker estate. Mr. Perkins, father located one mile east of this farm and here N. R. Perkins grew to manhood. He very early adopted his father's trade, that of carpenter, which line of work he followed until recent years. Mr. Perkins enjoys the best best of health at-though 84 years of age while Mrs. Perkins, who never was his equal in health, is able to attend to her household duties at 77 years. Mr. Perkins is the oldest resident of Harmon township. He has one sister, Mrs. Mary Houston, who is 90 years of age and lives with her daughter, Mrs. DeLoes Prescott of Rockford.

Garbo to Sweden? Not to Marry.

Hollywood, April 23.—(AP)—Greta Garbo, who came from Sweden to reach the heights as a film star and then lead a hermit-like existence, found herself projected today into two events that held the interest of the movie colony.

First was a denial of reports from Stockholm that she was to marry William Soerensen, reputedly wealthy society man of that city.

Through her manager, Harry Edington, Miss Garbo let it be known that she considers Soerensen anything but a friend, much less a husband-to-be.

Cr bscm m m m
Soerensen was a visitor in Hollywood 18 months ago. Following his departure, an unauthorized life story of Miss Garbo by a woman writer was published. Studio officials said the actress traced the origin of the story to Soerensen, and has never forgiven him.

"It is not only false, but absurd," Edington said in commenting on the reported engagement. Then there was the reported refusal of the actress to sign a renewal of her contract with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studios. Her current picture, it was reported, will be her last. Her present agreement with the studio expires in June.

Acquaintances recently quoted Miss Garbo as saying: "I think I go back to Sweden."

Judge Edwards Officially at Marriage

Judge Harry Edwards in his chambers at the court house this morning at 10 o'clock united in marriage Elwood Britton of Gilman, Wis., and Miss Lois Hartman of Mondovi, Wis. The couple were attended by Lyman Haunschild and Miss Lorraine Hartman, a sister of the bride, both of Mondovi. The bride was attired in peach crinkled silk with accessories matching, her sister wearing a blue travelling suit. Following the marriage ceremony, the couple returned to Gilman where they will reside.

Birthday Surprise For Mrs. J. Palmer

On Thursday evening a group of friends held a delightful surprise for Mrs. John Palmer at her home, the occasion being the celebration of her birthday.

Mrs. Palmer was genuinely surprised and made her guests welcome, the evening being spent in bunco. There were three tables.

Mrs. Oscar Ebersole of Sterling was awarded the favor for high honors and Mrs. James Devine, Sr. received the favor for second score.

After bunco a delicious luncheon was served.

Mrs. Palmer was presented with a number of beautiful handkerchiefs in a handkerchief shower, accompanied with the best wishes of the donors for future happy birthdays.

Pattern 9345

ILLUSTRATED STEP-BY-STEP
MAKING INSTRUCTIONS GIV-EN WITH THIS MODEL

No reason in the world why the inexpensive dress of cotton should be less attractive than its silken cousin. Here is one example of how very smart a cotton frock can be. The scalloped details give it the dressy appearance yet they are easily made by binding with bias tape. Delightful prints are to be found among the percales, broadcloths, piques, lawns and linens. . . . gay, youthful and smart.

Pattern 9345 may be ordered only in sizes 14 to 20 and 32 to 44. Size 16 requires 3½ yards of 36-inch fabric, ½ yard contrasting.

To get a pattern of this model, send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred). Please write very plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern ordered.

Paradise

By HELEN WELSHIMER

WHEN women search for Paradise As a rule you'll find A little house, love-filled and bright, Is what they have in mind.

A LITTLE house where sunshine makes Gold rays across the floor, And honeysuckle drifts, dream-sweet, Around the kitchen door.

TWO rows of gay, brave hollyhocks That guard a homing lane, An open fire by which to warm When dusk blows up a rain.

THE ecstasy that day's end throws Across a shadowed lawn, Where women, seeing men turn home, Put waiting kettles on.

RULE BY LOVE, NOT FEAR

THE real man is a witness of God. Then let all our communications reflect this true witnessing to God. This should be the standard of conversation, its purpose and its meaning.

"Speak gently, it is better far To rule by love than fear; Speak gently; let no harsh word mar

The good we may do here

"Speak gently it is a little thing, Dropped in the heart's deep well; The good, the joy, that it may bring, Eternity shall tell."

—Christian Science Monitor.

Mentality Much; Spirituality More

Last evening Mrs. Ray Harris addressed the Young People's Conference on "Perseverance". She stated in the beginning, "Of all sad words Of tongue or pen, The saddest or these 'Run out of gas.'"

There is not a one that hasn't mental power to carry you on if you just don't run out of gas. It isn't the strongest people that get what they want but those that have enough "gas" and stick-to-it-iveness to go out and get it.

A 150 lb. man according to investigation only has $6.99 worth of material in his make up. He contains enough sugar to sweeten a few cups of coffee, enough phosphorus, to make a few matches, enough lime to make a little fertilizer, enough starch to starch a few collars but after all he is worth only $6.99.

In a large department store in Chicago there is a man six-feet tall in uniform with all its brass buttons, a strong well-built man whose entire ambition in life appears to be to open the doors of automobiles and usher the ladies into the building. In a room on one of the upper floor sits a man at a desk. He is crippled, small, not beautiful to look upon, but his is the brain that runs the gigantic organization.

The mental or brain life isn't everything, though. The spiritual life is necessary. Take Loeb and Leopold for instance. There's a case of no spiritual training.

How must the little Jewish boy have felt as he looked on the cartoon of the four nations pictured—France as the Spirit of Pleasure, England as Imperialism, Germany as Militarism, and America as Love and Justice.

The mental or brain life has been given to the crime wave and too little praise to the people who have been trying to carry on the good of the nation.

The American youth has wide-awake minds. Politicians say, "The Eighteenth Amendment has caused the depression." Youth can think for itself and see who are the countries of the world trying to borrow money of? What country is the richest even yet in the world?

Nothing is too difficult if you have desire to do it and if you have the will-power and stick-to-it-iveness.

Everybody has one thing he can do better than anyone else. Perhaps it is pitching horse-shoes as one man does. Yet he makes $1,000 a week because he never misses.

A little boy once saw a man playing the piano at a concert. He said to his mother, "I'd like to play the piano like that." Wisely she answered that he could but it would take practice. He stayed with his ambition week after week, month after month, and year after year, until now as we hear Dick Choate play the piano we appreciate that for which he worked and sacrificed.

Closing Mrs. Harris read a poem entitled, "The Strange Beggar."

Sunday evening the Vesper service will be at 6:00 P. M. at the Christian church. Rev. Shaeffer and Rev. Hale will be the speakers.

All young people are invited to attend these meetings held each week day evening except Monday and Saturday at 6:45. They are interdenominational in character and are promoting an excellent atmosphere of fellowship among those belonging. The membership now is around the 225 mark.

READING CLUB TO MEET WEDNESDAY—
The Reading Club will meet Wednesday evening with Mrs. Robert Shaw, Dement Ave.

Civic Music Week Closes Tonight at 10

Civic Music Week closes tonight at 10 o'clock. Accordingly this is the last day in which residents of Dixon have an opportunity to join the Dixon Civic Music Association and become entitled to attend the series of artist concerts which are to be presented here next season.

A message from the office of the Civic Music Association emphasizes that no memberships will be registered after the official close of Civic Music Week.

The Civic Music Association is composed of the people who want to hear and enjoy music. Membership is open to all and the only obligation is the payment of five dollars per year membership dues. All dues are used to finance civic music concerts. The organization is non-profit making and officers donate their services. Therefore, the more members we have, the more dues, and the more dues, the more concerts can be presented.

Artists for next season's civic music calendar will be chosen as soon after the close of Civic Music Week as possible. It is necessary first to have an exact accounting of the membership and dues, since artists are engaged on the basis of funds in hand. The Civic Music Association never asks for guarantees or risks a deficit. The whole plan of the organization is co-operative.

The local Civic Music Association is a member of the National Civic Music Association and is therefore represented at the annual Civic Music Conference in Chicago. Through this conference, representatives of all Civic Music Associations are enabled to discuss and thus select talent for their respective courses on the basis of actual reports of the artists' performances in other cities, rather than on the basis of publicity or of a manager's salesmanship.

THE STRANGE CASE OF MR. KREUGER.

Now that more light has been shed on the tangled affairs of Ivar Kreuger it is beginning to be a little easier to understand why the rich "match king" killed himself.

Indeed, the suicide seems to be the one action in the whole tangled chain that looks logical. All the rest is bizarre, disordered, reasonless.

Why should one of the world's richest and most powerful men forge millions of dollars worth of Italian government securities? Why should he contribute heavily to monarchist movements in Spain, to Fascist movements in Germany? Why should he get things into such a mix-up that police investigation is looked for in such widely-separated places as New York, Berlin, Paris, Amsterdam and Geneva?

Is there, perhaps, something about the pursuit of great wealth and great commercial power that betrays a man and compels him to delude himself when the going gets difficult?

Climbing to the top in the world of finance is no job for the oversqueamish. To reach the position that Ivar Kreuger reached one must have a boundless confidence in one's self, coupled with a readiness to reach out for whatever it is that one happens to want without worrying too greatly over the ethical niceties.

Do that long enough, and eventually you reach the point at which your own will and your own desires are your only law. Then, if bad luck comes, the stage is all set for a titanic crash like that of Kreuger's.

Swedish investigators have asserted that forged Italian bonds with a face value of approximately $100,000,000 were traced to the match king's door. Imagine the utter impossibility of finally evading detection in a swindle of that size, and you have the measure of this man's delusion.

The determined pursuit of money, beyond the point at which one has enough to buy the freedom and leisure which money can provide, is an ignoble game. A debacle like that of Kreuger's is a sample of its final significance.

THE SITUATION IN GERMANY.

While all the rejoicing about Von Hindenburg's re-election as president of Germany is going on, it is not safe to assume that all danger of a catastrophe in Germany is past simply because Hitler was badly outvoted.

After all, Hitler polled nearly 13,500,000 votes. Ernst Thaelmann, the Communist candidate, polled about 3,700,000. Each one of the votes cast for those two men represents a desperate, utterly despairing German citizen. Those desperate ones may be in a minority, but the minority is a tremendous one.

When more than 17,000,000 citizens in a nation like Germany can vote for a Fascist or a Communist, the pressure on the social structure must be terrific. The crisis may be over, but the causes that produced it are still operating.

ANOTHER NORRIS REFORM.

Senator George W. Norris put through Congress two important and spectacular reforms this year—the lame duck amendment and the law reforming the use of injunction laws. Now he is pushing still another reform, which is greatly needed but which lacks the elements of popular appeal that the other two had.

The new one is a move to deprive the federal courts of jurisdiction over much litigation which arises when plaintiff and defendant in a civil action live in two different states.

That sounds excessively uninteresting, perhaps. But it is important. A great corporation, for instance, often incorporates in a state other than the one in which it does its business, so that it can throw litigation into the federal courts. Since federal court litigation is expensive this gives the corporation an immense advantage when the ordinary citizen brings a legal action against it. Senator Norris' bill deserves to pass.

If we have an Andrew Jackson for president of the United States some time, we will collect those war debts.—Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida.

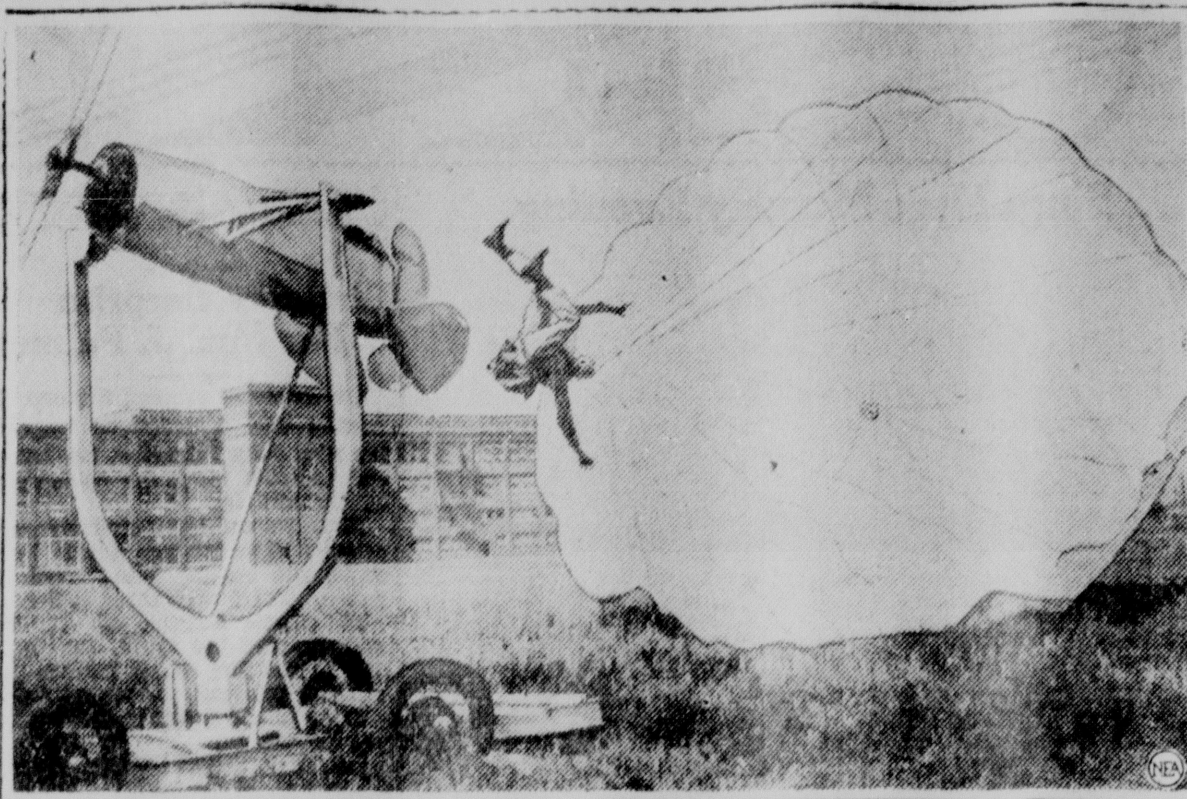

I always feel like Exhibit X.—Robert Montgomery, movie star.

I think men are noble. Many of the men I know have sacrificed tremendously for their women in both time and money.—Thyra Samter Winslow, novelist.

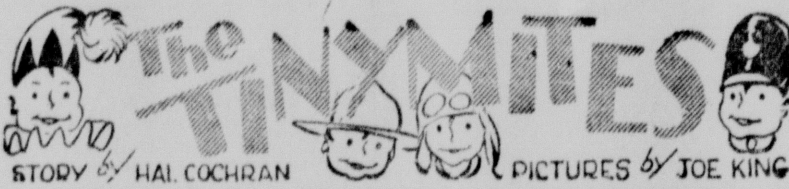

An armed struggle between the Japanese and American imperialism is inevitable.—The Red Star, official Soviet army newspaper.

I entertain not the slightest doubt that a decade hence we will be stronger, as I hope we may also be wiser, than during the period preceding 1929, when we were living in a fool's paradise.—Dr. Abraham Flexner, director, Institute for Advanced Study.

Risks Neck to Test Balance in 10-Foot "Leap"

A fast-acting cameraman caught this unusual picture of a pilot being hurled through the air, and an instant later the flyer was injured seriously when he hit the ground, head first. The victim, Louis "Speed" Babbs of Los Angeles, was trying to prove that a pilot doesn't lose his equilibrium, no matter how a plane is stunted. He leaped from the cockpit of his "acrobatic" device designed for student pilots expecting the backwash of the propeller to raise his parachute. The experiment failed when the wind tore the parachute open threw it toward the ground and dragged Speed with it.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE.

The skinny man whom Scouty caught, soon said, "I think you big lads ought to let me go. I have done no harm and I am a friendly lad."

"Who are you fellows, anyway, and why did you come here today? If you will tell me honestly, things may not be so bad."

"We are sorry that we pulled a mean trick," replied the skinny fellow. "Let's all stick together for a little while. I will call my skinny friends."

"Then we can all have lots of fun. I'll think of things that can be done. At least, why not try out my plan? We will soon see how it ends."

"Okay," snapped wee Windy. "Bring them here! And tell them there is naught to fear." The skinny fellow promptly turned and yelled a funny sound.

From everywhere the skinnies came. It looked like a playing of some strange game. The Tinxies shook hands with all the skinnies as they gathered around.

One of the skinnies said, "We're glad that we are good friends. It would be too bad to miss the chance to have some play. You will join with us, of course. Just wait right here and you will see a sight as funny as can be. I will ride right back here shortly on a funny rubber horse."

And then the skinny ran from sight. His promise soon turned out all right. Out of the trees they saw him come. The skinny yelled, "Yoo hoo!" Said Scouty "What a funny nag. He bounces and his big feet drag. Hey, look it seems that he is about to bend himself in two."

(Dunny tried to ride the rubber horse in the next story.)

HOPE FOR DIABETICS

Though in the development of insulin medical science has won a great victory over diabetes, its conquest will not be complete until such time as the diabetic sufferer will be released of the necessity of employing insulin by injection.

At present insulin taken by the mouth does not have any appreciable effect upon the diabetic condition, but to prove effective must be taken by injection.

This, as it is to be expected, taxes the patience of many a diabetic sufferer and science is hard bent on discovering a substitute that will be taken internally.

To accomplish this most desired aim, it is essential to know the chemical nature of insulin.

At present insulin is secured from the pancreas of slaughtered animals. If it could be produced synthetically, its cost might be lowered and the purity of the substance improved and standardized.

This has been achieved with other so-called hormone substances, notably with epinephrine, which is derived from the suprarenal gland, and thyroxine, which is produced by the thyroid.

Insulin has been crystallized by Abel and in crystal form it is much more potent than the original substance from which it is derived.

However, the chemical nature of insulin is as yet undetermined. The fact that insulin is suspected to be a protein makes the problem more difficult.

However, medicine has in the past been confronted with even more perplexing problems and somehow has managed in time to solve them, and there is hope that it will not fail to solve the riddle of insulin.

In the meantime, however, those whose health and life depend upon the hypodermic use of insulin should adhere strictly to the their physician and should not fall victims to the false claims made for so-called insulin substitutes.

ALLIES ATTACK ZEEBRUGGE

On April 23, 1918, the Allies waged a successful sea battle against the German submarine bases at Zeebrugge and Ostend.

British naval forces, headed by Vice Commander Keyes, with the co-operation of French destroyers, succeeded in bottling up the harbor at Zeebrugge by sinking three battleship hulks at the entrance.

All three were loaded with cement that became solid concrete on contact with the water. While the undertaking was highly successful, the Allies lost 50 officers and 538 men.

At Ostend the attempt to close the harbor was unsuccessful. Two ship hulks sunk in the water off the harbor were not effectively placed, and another attempt was planned for a few weeks later.

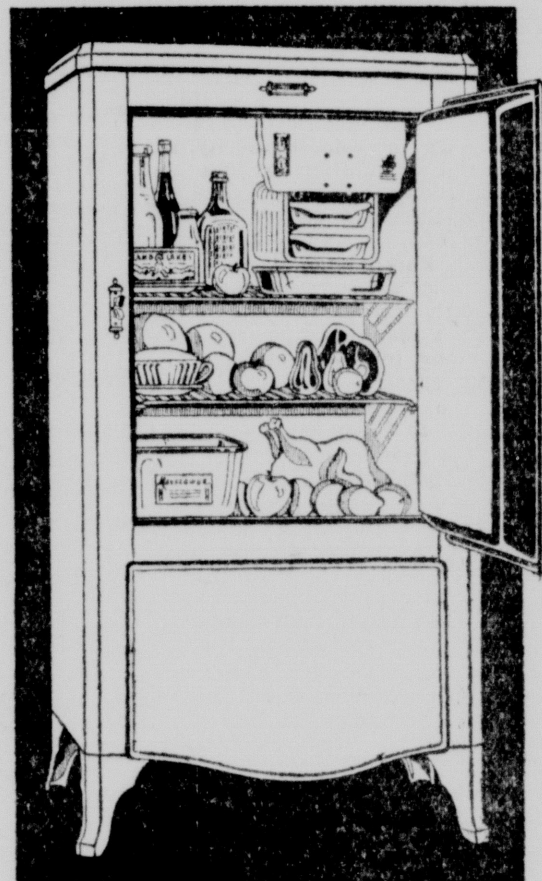

ROCKET CARRIED MAIL

Munich (UP)—Mail was transported by rocket for the first time recently in Austria from the top of the Hoch-Troetsch Mountain to the village of Semriach a distance of a mile and a quarter. The designer of the rocket is Fritz Schmiedl. Pulverized chlorate was used as the explosive. The rocket carried about 300 letters, some destined for overseas. The first rocket mail had special stamps.

PIG SETS HOME—A BACON

Bruce, Wis.—Elmer Christianson might have been trying the ancient Oriental method of preparing roast pork, but, anyway, he is minus one home because of a pig he had butchered. It seems the pig fell from a hanging place and overturned a lantern and a can of gasoline. Christianson and his family escaped in time from the burning house.

LULL IN DRIVE FOR DELEGATES TO CONVENTIONS

But Coming Week Will See Nation-Wide Campaigning

BY BYRON PRICE

Washington, Apr. 23—(AP)—A lull in the furious spring drive of delegate-choosing has given the two major parties an opportunity this week for serious self-questioning on two paramount questions. What does President Hoover intend to do about prohibition, and how does Governor Roosevelt propose to restore prosperity?

On neither of these topics have inquiring party minds been able to achieve satisfaction. Mr. Hoover either has not made up his mind on the wet and dry question, or he prefers momentarily to keep the decision to himself. Mr. Roosevelt either has thought out no complete plan for economic recovery, or he believes the time is not ripe to announce it.

No outward omen indicates that this hesitation is handicapping either in his bid for the nomination. If things go on as they have been going, the Republicans will name Hoover and the Democrats Roosevelt on faith, and leave the country to wait for the post-convention campaign to learn what is what.

Pressure Terrific
The pressure on the President to say something on prohibition has become terrific. He has received representations amounting almost to demands from both sides. Some of his own Cabinet want the party definitely to part company with the Anti-Saloon League, and declare for a referendum. One prohibition organization after another, including an imposing group of women during the present week, has served notice they will quit him if he wavers.

Very business-like indeed appear the preparations of the organized dyes. In New York state they have made tentative plans to run an independent set of presidential elections. Everywhere they are talking purposefully of a third party—a threat which of course falls most heavily on the Republicans, since now force that either the Democratic platform or the Democratic candidate, or both, are likely to be unacceptable.

Is Disconcerting
It is one of the most disconcerting things a presidential candidate has had to face in recent years. The inner circle of Mr. Hoover's friends believe he intends to say nothing at all until convention time, and then stand on whatever plank the party is able to agree upon. On the same authority, his hope and expectation is that the Republicans will not go so far toward modification as the Democrats do.

Parallel Delay
A parallel delay appears in the cards with respect to Governor Roosevelt's plans to help "the little man" along toward prosperity. His St. Paul speech has not quieted those who are demanding that he get down to brass tacks, and say what he would do in the White House. That demand is sure to become more and more insistent. Many Democratic leaders are convinced only a constructive program can win.

The explanation passed around among Roosevelt's friends is that he already has such a constructive program, but sees no need of outlining it in detail under present changing conditions; that he is fully confident of the nomination, and wisely is saving his ammunition for the ensuing campaign.

Whether this be or not, the St. Paul speech indicated that the Governor's eye is on November, rather than June. He spoke as a Democratic nominee might speak, with only soft reproach for his fellow-Democrat, Alfred E. Smith, but plenty of direct challenge to President Hoover. He appealed to the Republican insurgent of the northwest, and it was a Republican, agriculture Secretary Hyde, who made reply to him.

In the matter of actual selection of delegates, the week was almost a blank. Among the Democrats, Illinois alone tallied with the selection Friday of eight delegates-at-large to complete a state bloc of 58 for James Hamilton Lewis. This is the largest Democratic total except Roosevelt's own—255 out of a total of 484—thus far selected. Hoover added Colorado, Delaware and South Carolina's district delegates, giving him instructed, pledged and claimed, 423 out of 445.

She's First Woman to Be Chief Steward On A Big Ocean Liner

Mrs. Mathilda A. Hill (left) . . . directs service aboard ship.

By NEA Service

New York—Mathilda A. Hill is the first woman to sail the high seas in the capacity of a ship's chief steward. Officially, Mrs. Hill is called Supervisor of Service, and the entire crew on the Grace liner Santa Barbara is responsible to her. And as social director, it is up to Mrs. Hill to see that all passengers' birthdays and anniversaries are celebrated by a cake or party and that other entertainment is arranged to amuse them on their voyage.

Mrs. Hill has just completed her maiden trip to various ports of call in South America. The trip, however, was no new adventure to her. "I have made 43 ocean trips before this, my first working one," Mrs. Hill said. "You see, my husband served as treasurer of Porto Rico and later had banking interests in Peru and Mexico, so we were traveling back and forth much of the time."

Her work, however, is brand new to her and, judging from this first trip, seems ideally suited to her.

"It is a woman's job, all around," she said. "Women can anticipate passengers' wants more quickly than a man, provided they are home-makers who are used to the demands of hospitality."

Even the arduous task of taking charge of a crew of many nationalities—the kitchen crew has 15 Chinese—holds no terrors for her.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

OF ALL NEW NOVELS

Strangest of all the novels of the spring is "A Glastonbury Romance," by John Cowper Powys.

Here is a tremendously fast book containing more than 1100 pages of fine type. It is a weird mixture of melodrama and mysticism, of medieval legend and modern eroticism, presented with a detail and a driving earnestness that leave one gasping for breath. One trips over symbolism and allegory at every turn.

And yet there is a lot of strength in the book. Its characters are living, breathing men and women; they are real people, you accept them and remember them. Its prose is frequently distinguished and at times deeply moving. Reading it through is a chore, but you are likely to feel well repaid when you come to the end.

Mr. Powys fixes his plot in the Somerset town of Glastonbury, where the Arthurian legends center. Here the Lady of the Lake is supposed to have lived, here Merlin passed into his strange enchantment, here the Holy Grail was glimpsed by earnest seekers; and to this town comes the Rev. John Geard, who has inherited a fortune and who seeks to turn Glastonbury into a new spiritual center for pilgrims from all the world.

In conflict with him is Philip Crow, the manufacturer, who wants to abolish mysticism and make Glastonbury a manufacturing center; and the rivalry of these two, running all through the book, becomes an allegory from which dangle countless symbolic subplots.

"A Glastonbury Romance" has abundant defects, and now and then it seems just plain long-winded. But when you finish it you've read something.

Cannibalism, once common in several parts of the world, is now practiced in only a few sections. Cannibals are known to live in some parts of New Guinea, Africa.

The advertising columns of the newspapers are breathing with bargains.

No city is immune from hard knocks. If they have a community spirit, well developed, hard knocks just spur them on to greater achievements.

Lately a lot of politicians and editors of newspapers in the big cities have been beating their breasts violently, roaring and spreading the word that able-bodied veterans of the World War are receiving pensions. They are greatly mistaken. The Government does not pay compensation or pensions to any veteran of the World War unless he is disabled.

You are cheating yourself if you don't use every effort to make your city a busier city.

Speed maniacs should be taught that the time to be careful is before accidents—not after.

Every citizen should prove his loyalty to his home city by services rendered.

The chap who carries around a sour face and never smiles is hurting no one but his own selfish self.

A whole lot of business men just love to be skinned by fake advertising schemes. They fall for every faker that comes along. In fact, some of them crowd each other to see who can get stung first.

Tourist trade can enable a city to yield more revenue. It is also one of the best means of introducing the city itself to outsiders. It helps any possible misunderstanding that exists between one place and another.

The wise business man knows that the "magic key" to the city and rural trade is through the advertising pages of the LOCAL NEWSPAPERS.

WORLD APPEARS SMARTER THAN CHURCH PEOPLE

Cantrell Says Racketeers Are Keen Lot Of Law Breakers

Grady Cantrell, union evangelist, preached the last of four sermons upon the Power of Pentecost at the tabernacle service last night. The largest audience since Tuesday night crowded the building to hear the evangelist. His theme for the evening was "How to Get the Power of the Holy Spirit."

"Some people ask, what's the matter with the church today?" stated the evangelist in the course of his remarks. "I can tell you. We have lost the power of the Holy Spirit. Jesus said in Luke, 16:8: 'The sons of this world are for their generation, wiser than the sons of the light.' Why did Jesus say the sons of this world are wiser than we? Because they know how to submit to discipline to get results. They know what they want and go after it."

Here he illustrated his thought from the prize ring. He took Jack Dempsey as an example of paying the price to win. He showed how Dempsey was smart enough to hire a manager or trainer and then to do exactly as he was told.

"But, he continued," a lot of churches I know, hire a preacher and then proceed to tell him how the church ought to be run and never heed what he says as spiritual adviser. Is it any wonder we don't get anywhere? God tells us in the Bible what we ought to do and how we ought to live but we won't read it. And a great multitude of church members never go to church to hear the gospel preached. There never as a time when we had so many church members in this country, but the majority of them do not attend church services regularly."

Following the sermon the evangelist made an appeal for decisions for Christ and consecration of church members. There was a ready response and the Upper Room was soon filled.

The young peoples conference had a special program last evening. Mrs. Ray Harris brought a special message. A vesper service will be held at the Christian church at 6:00 tomorrow evening at which time, Rev. Morton W. Hale and Rev. A. D. Shaffer will be the speakers.

The Harris choir had a Wiener roast and social at the tabernacle last night following the church service. A number of games and stunts were indulged in to the delight of all.

The special features of tomorrow's program at the tabernacle will be the special meeting featuring only at 2:30 at which time the evangelist will deliver his celebrated lecture upon "Wine, Women and Gambling." At the evening service Reverend Cantrell will preach upon, "How You Can Get What You Want from Marbles to Millions." He announced that a special effort would be made tomorrow night to raise the remainder of the budget for current expenses of the meeting so that the nightly collections may be discontinued. It is reported that some gifts from business firms have already been received without any solicitation having been made.

Continuing his sermon last night, the evangelist said in part, "The trouble with present day churches is that we have let down the bars so that any old hog with an automobile and a suit of clothes can get in without any trouble. We are more for the clothes-line than for the life-line. We make more of the supper-room than of the upper-room. We have a form of godliness but deny the power thereof."

"I used to wonder about the Holy Spirit and try to figure out how to get him, but when I read Acts 5:32, it became plain, it says there that God hath given the Holy Spirit to them that obey him. And if we did that there would be no division among God's people and they could hang a 'For Rent' sign on Hell before July 4th."

"In II Tim. 3:5, Paul says the churches are going to develop into a form of Godliness, and I tell you he knew what he was talking about. The church needs a rebirth. The church is not a society. On Pentecost, one sermon converted three thousand, now it takes three thousand sermons to get one old weak-kneed, watery-eyed, well-footed hypocrite interested. A fellow says to me, 'Grady, we need to be better organized.' Good night! Got so much she squeals. One time a fellow said, 'Rastus, are you a Christian?' 'I don't know boss, but I's goin' through the motions.'"

ay o-m-lirs. C4-k 'ropsdh:m mc ec

"Drop into the average prayer meeting and you'd think you had got into old King Tut's private graveyard. God has a hard time fighting that, you can't camouflage your way into Heaven, soaking up the heat, passing the hat, ringing the bell, or turning the ice cream freezer won't do it. What's the matter?"

"Ever since Adam and Eve were writing love letters in the Garden of Eden the devil has peddled the dope that it's easy to be a Christian, it's the dirtiest lie that ever beached out of the pits of Hell, anything worth having is hard to get. I'll tell you what's wrong, we've lost the Power of the Holy Spirit. Acts 5:34. Those that obey God have the Holy Spirit. How can you obey God if you don't read your Bible. Eph. 6:17 says the Bible is the sword of the spirit. How are you going to fight without ammunition? The trouble today, we are just plain lazy and won't read God's word. Did you ever see a Sunday school teacher come in with an arm full of help? If you did, this is about the way she taught the lesson. Looks at help: 'Was Elijah a good man?' pause.

Again, "Yes, Elijah was a good man," pause. "Did Elijah go to Heaven?" pause. "Yes," very faint, pause. "Yes, Elijah went to Heaven," etc. What's the matter? No power of the Spirit. How will I get Power? Read, study and obey God's word.

"Here is a dynamo, its power but a 110 volt bulb would blow up goes into hundreds of volts, so with you and God, God's power is unlimited, you pray for the power of the Holy Spirit. If God gave what you asked he might blow you up, you would get so well headed you couldn't get by the Pearly Gates, so God gives you power as you study and obey his will, then he can use you mightily. You can not show me a case of a great man in God's work that is not absolutely consecrated. Read and study so God can use you. Jesus tells us in Luke 16:1 that the children of darkness are smarter than the children of the light, and Jesus never put out any hot air."

"Look at John Bunyan. He was not an educated man as the schools reckon it, but he was full of the Holy Spirit. They could put him in prison because of his religious convictions, but they could not imprison his spirit, nor limit his service to humanity. With the Bible under one arm and Foxe's Book of Martyrs under the other and Jesus in his heart, and out from that old p...s darkest dungeon come forth the world's 'best seller' next to the Bible, Bunyan's Pilgrim Progress. Why? Because he obeyed and played square with God."

A few years ago, Ponce De Leon went up and down the land looking for the fountain of Perpetual Youth. He looked in the wrong place, it can be found only in God's Word.

"We know that he have passed out of death into life," First John 3:15 and Jesus says, "I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life, no man cometh unto the Father but by Me."

It is up to you, you can accept the proposition or turn it down, and nobody is to blame but yourself.

Mrs. Sarah Loscy, president of Ashton Woman's Club with Mrs. Edwin Orner will represent the Ashton Woman's club at the annual convention of the District Convention to be held at Galena May 5. From the Pine Rock club, Mrs. Mildred Clover, president and Mrs. Margaret Johnston, Ogle county chairman of junior activities, are delegates. The two delegations will accompany each other to Galena.

Legacies from the Petrie estate to the churches of Ashton and Parrish, New York are now being distributed to the organizations to which they were willed. Ashton churches to share in the bequests are M. E. Presbyterian, St. John's Lutheran, Evangelical and St. Mary's Catholic.

Each church will receive a bequest of $1,000. The four Sunday schools of Ashton, M. E. Presbyterian, Lutheran and Evangelical Sunday schools, will each receive bequests of $1,000 each. At Parrish, New York, Methodist and Presbyterian churches will each receive $1,000 each while each Sunday school will receive $500. New York

Aimee "Done" in Oil by Prize-Winning Artist

The painting, "Apparition Over Los Angeles," shown above, has been admitted to the walls of the California Art Club at last after being barred by Judges of the Los Angeles Museum exhibition as "too controversial." The same judges awarded the artist, Barse Miller, a prize, however. The painting depicts Angelus Temple with Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton in the Lady Godiva manner floating among the clouds in the center and flourishing a collection plate. Silk-hatted cherubs peer from among the money bags below her. At the right is suggested David L. Hutton, her new husband, and at the left reclines a figure resembling her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy-Hudson.

Sleep Center in Brain?

A sleep center in the brain is pos- tulated by the Austrian neurologist G. von Economo, in the American Journal of Nervous and Mental Diseases.

While this center is not exactly lo- cated, he says, those diseases which show disturbance of the sleep func- tion, such as the abnormally pro- longed slumber of encephalitis show lesions in the neighborhood of the third ventricle of the brain. Cats have been made to yawn and as- sume positions of rest when this re- gion is stimulated with electricity.

Von Economo believes that the nerve cells of this region are par- ticularly susceptible to some fa- tigue substance which circulates in the blood and that once stimulated they inhibit the action of the higher nervous centers. Thus it is able to act as a sentry for the rest of the brain.

DIXON DEFEATS POLO IN FIRST TRACK CONTEST

Tracksters Appear To Be Pointed Toward A Better Season

By DON HILLIKER

Victorious over Polo in the inaugural dual meet of the year the Dixon high school tracksters are pointed toward a good season. Scoring slams in the discus and 100 yard dash the locals took all but four events to win 83½ to 38½.

The next competition will be met Tuesday at 4 p. m. when Rock Falls comes here for a dual meeting.

Polo's only firsts were taken by Coffman in the high hurdles and shot-put; Shipman in the low hurdles and Yeakel in the mile. No record-breaking marks were established although Condon's 10.8 second century was good time. Ogan and Strong led the scoring with seventeen and sixteen points, respectively. Coffman took honors for Polo by scoring eleven points.

One of Dixon's fastest relay outfits toured the 880 yards in 1 minute 39.4 seconds. Condon, Talty, Strong and Ogan did the work in this race.

Summaries:

100-yard dash—Condon, D. first; Talty, D. second; Flanningam, D. third. Time 10.8 seconds.

Shot put — Coffman, P. first; Daniels, D. second; Ogan, D. third. Distance 37 ft., 11 inches.

120 yard high hurdles—Coffman, P. first; Shipman, P. second; Schildberg, D. third. Time 18.2 seconds.

Discus—Ogan, D. first; Fordham, D. second; Coffman, P. third. Distance 102 feet, 11 inches.

Mile run — Yeakel, P. first; Padgett, D. second; Williams, D. third.

Javelin—Ogan, D. first; Daniels, D. second; Strong, D. third. Distance 140 feet, 10 inches.

220-yd low hurdles—Shipman, P. first; Fordham, D. second; Henry, D. third. Time 27.5 seconds.

220-yard dash—Strong, D. first; Miller, P. second; Flanningam, D. third. Time 24.5 seconds.

440-yard dash — Talty, D. first; Williams, D. second; Reinert, P. third. Time 56 seconds.

High jump — Strong, D. first; Folk, P. second; Schildberg, D. and Coffman, P. tied. Height 5 feet 3 inches.

880-yard dash—Smith, D. first; Compton, D. second; Yeakel, P. third. Time 2 minutes 10.5 seconds.

Pole vault—Ogan, D. first; Folk, P. second; Beech, D. third. Height, 10 feet, 2 inches.

Broad jump — Strong, D. first; Shipman, P. second; Ogan, D. third. Distance 18 feet, 9 inches.

Relay—Won by Dixon (Condon, Talty, Strong, Ogan). Time 1:39.4.

Baseball Gossip

By GAYLE TALBOT

Associated Press Sports Writer

The critics who claimed the New York Giants couldn't possibly be as bad as they looked in dropping five of their first six games have been well borne out by the manner in which the McGrawmen have ripped into the Phillies the last three days.

The Giants have begun to display the form that featured their exhibition games and established them among the favorites in the National League race. Three straight victories over the Phils, all of them featured by the vicious slugging of Bill Terry and Company, have boosted the team from last place into a tie for the fifth berth.

Terry, in the last four days, has clubbed six home runs, tying the major league record for circuit bloopers in that period, and has led his mates in driving hits. He got No. 6 yesterday to help down the Phils, 13 to 8, in a hitting bee. Seven pitchers paraded, four of them for the losers.

The battling Boston Braves took a firmer grip on first place, winning their fourth straight when Bobby Brown, rookie right hander made his major league debut by setting Brooklyn down, 4 to 1, on five hits. The victory may have proved costly, however, as Art Shires was knocked unconscious in a collision with Joe Stripp at first base and may be out of the line-up for a time.

Thanks largely to four errors by their opponents, the St. Louis Cardinals broke a six-game losing streak with a 5 to 3 win over Pittsburgh in 10 innings. Lloyd Waner's miff of Bottomley's short fly provided the champions with the winning run in the extra frame.

Rogers Hornsby's Chicago Cubs strengthened their grip on second place with their second straight over the slipping Reds, 5 to 4. They grouped seven of their hits in the first three innings off Larry Benton.

Whitlow Wyatt, Detroit's sensational rookie, scored his third victory in as many starts as the Tigers rolled up a 16 to 3 decision over the Cleveland Indians. Five Indian fingers gave up 22 hits, including home runs by Wyatt and Stone. The triumph put the Tigers further in front of the American League field, their closest rivals being idle for the day.

Sam Gray was called upon to quell a ninth inning rally and give the St. Louis Browns a 4 to 1 win over Chicago's White Sox. Dick Coffman held the Sox well in hand the first eight frames.

Here is an avenue of many nations where athletes from all parts of the world will live this summer during the Olympic games at Los Angeles. For the first time since the athletes of ancient Greece pitched their tents on the plains of Elis 1900 years ago participants in the Olympic games will be housed and fed in a single complete community built especially for the purpose on a 331-acre site in the Baldwin Hills Los Angeles. Construction of the village is well under way and will be completed when the contestants begin to arrive for the games.

What Averages Of Big Leagues Show This Week

IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

New York, April 23 —(AP)—Three New York batsmen, Freddy Lindstrom, Bill Terry and Hugh Critz, took nearly all of the National League's batting honors for the first week of the 1932 campaign.

They hold the first three places among the regular players in the averages which include last Wednesday's games; Lindstrom with a .452 average, Terry with .424 and Critz with .412. Among them they share one other "first" as each has made 14 hits, and in addition Lindstrom has scored the most runs, ten, and Terry leads in homers, with five, and in runs batted in, with eleven.

Behind this trio, at the top of the first week's batting averages come Spohrer, Boston, at .409; Herman, Cincinnati, .400; Wright, Brooklyn, .391; Suhr, Pittsburgh, .387; Shires, Boston, .375; McCurdy, Philadelphia, .364; and V. Davis, Philadelphia, .327.

Five players made four doubles apiece in eight days to share the lead. They are Glenn Wright, of Brooklyn, Jim Collins and Frank Frisch, St. Louis, and Paul and Lloyd Waner, Pittsburgh.

Babe Herman of Cincinnati walloped three triples to take first place while two Pittsburghers, Pie Traynor and Paul Waner stole four bases apiece.

Although they won few games, the Giants showed the way in slugging with a club average of .308 against 269 for the second place Pirates. The Cubs and the Phillies compiled .977 fielding averages to tie for the top.

Only two pitchers, Charles "Red" Lucas of Cincinnati and Eddie Healy, Philadelphia's 30 year old recruit, managed to win two games without a defeat but 15 others remained entirely on the right side of the won and lost ledger with a single victory.

IN AMERICAN LEAGUE
Chicago, Apr. 23 —(AP)—Headed by Jimmy Fox of the Athletics, American League veterans have set the batting pace during the opening days of the championship season.

Instead of the usual crop of youngsters who do the spring hitting and drop back later, the old familiar names are at the top of the list. Including games of Thursday, Fox who is "comeback" bent, after an indifferent season last year, had a mark of .500, led in scoring with 11 runs, topped the field in hits with 16, and his 34 total bases mark was good for another leadership. In addition, he was tied in home runs and triples.

Babe Ruth had driven in 12 runs to head that department, and shared the home run leadership with Fox, Lou Gehrig and Sammy Byrd, fellow Yankees, and Mickey Cochrane, another Athletic ace, at four each. Fox, Bill Dickey of the Yankees, and Sammy West of Washington each had two triples.

Seven sluggers, Tom Oliver of Boston; Roy Johnson and Harry Davis, Detroit; Carey Selph and Lu Blue, Chicago; Goose Goslin, St. Louis and Buddy Myer had cracked out four doubles each to divide honors in that field. Jack Rothrock and Hal Rhyne, both of Boston, led the base stealers with three each.

Following Fox, the leading regulars were: G. Walker, Detroit, .470; Gehrig, New York, .428; Oliver, Boston, .400; Johnson, Detroit, .385; Ruth, New York, .381; Dickey, New York, .370; Byrd, New York, .367, and Goslin, St. Louis, .367.

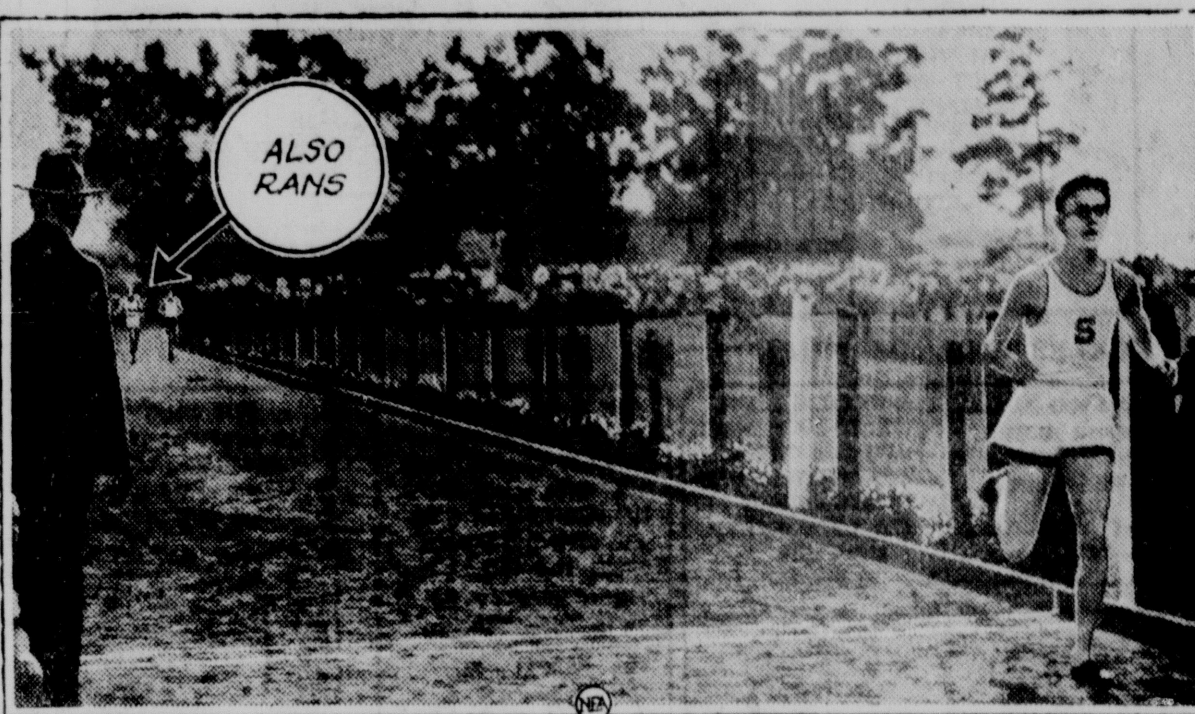

Detroit had three pitchers, Earl Whitehill, George Uhle and Whitlow Wyatt, among the six hurlers with records of two victories and no defeats. The others were: Wass Ferrell, Cleveland; Vernon Gomez, New York and Montie A. Weaver, Washington.

New York's .296 easily was the better team batting average, with the Athletics second at .275. Washington topped the league in team fielding with .980, with Philadelphia second with .974. The Chicago White Sox had completed 12 double plays, to lead Detroit by one.

For the first time in his varsity career Joe Sheeketski, Notre Dame halfback passed up spring football this semester to play on the Irish baseball team. He is a first string catcher.

With the exception of two seasons when the Toledo club was transferred to Cleveland the American Association has had the same membership since its organization in 1902.

Stanford Star Does It Again—And How Easy!

The superiority of Ben Easman, California middle distance star, is graphically illustrated in this unusual picture, showing the rest of the field of "also rans" far behind Blazing Ben. Just after Ben had breast the tape, it was announced he had set a world record for the half mile in 1:51.3, which was three-tenths of a second under the old record. Eastman also set a new 440-yard record this year in 46.4.

FATHER OF CAGE GAME SEES HARM IN RULE CHANGES

Dr. James Naismith Is Of Opinion New Rule Clutters Game

Lawrence, Kas., Apr. 23 —(AP)—Dr. James Naismith, father of basketball, protests that coaches have foisted upon the National Rules Committee an undesirable and futile measure to remove the "stall" from the game he invented more than 40 years ago.

Dr. Naismith voiced his disapproval of the new basketball rules between halves of a game here last night between alumni and varsity of the University of Kansas at a demonstration seminar.

He disagreed sharply with Dr. E. C. Allen, Kansas University Athletic Director. Dr. Naismith, a Professor of Physical Education at the University, contended the rule forcing the team in possession of the ball into its offensive half of the court after 10 seconds in the back court only "clutters up the game."

Dr. Naismith said that the burden of aggression should rest upon the team not in possession of the ball. He would give the team not in possession 30 seconds to "go after the ball wherever the other team holds it."

Allen sought to prove that the game was speeded up by eliminating "stalling" by the team in the lead.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, veteran coach at the University of Chicago, referee of the relays events, conducted a discussion of new foot ball rules, using Dr. Naismith, an old school mate in Springfield, Mass., to demonstrate the new technique.

Stagg declared the new rules would not "emasculate" the game and said that, as drafted, now they state only principles that must be brought to realization by the codification committee.

The Chicago mentor, a rules committee member, said spectators will notice few changes except in the revised kick-off.

Dana X. Bible of Nebraska, also a member of the rules committee, said the new football would not differ greatly from the old, but that technique must be revised to meet the new specifications.

Phar Lap Trainers Signed By Kilmer
Baltimore Apr. 23 —(AP)—The handlers of Phar Lap, Australian gelding that died of colic in California recently, after winning the Agua Caliente Handicap, have been signed by Willis Sharpe Kilmer, the owner of Sun Beau, world's largest money winner on the turf.

The New York sportsman said last night he had secured the services of Treve (Tommy) Woodcock, trainer of the great gelding; Dr. Walter Nielsen, the veterinarian; and Willie Elliott, the jockey.

Kilmer will place in the hands of Woodcock eight or ten horses to do with as he sees fit.

Joe Tinker Picks Yankees To Win

Orlando, Fla., April 23 —(AP)—Joe Tinker picks the New York Yankees to win the American League pennant.

Further, he predicts Walter Johnson's Washington Senators will finish second, the Cleveland Indians of Roger Peckinpaugh third and the Detroit Tigers under Stanley Harris fourth.

The man who started so many of the double plays that made famous the baseball combination of Tinkers-to-Evers-to-Chance lists two reasons why the Yankees should win.

First, says Tinker, the Yankees will get better pitching this year than they did last season. And to go with this will be the run producing bludgeons of Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Sam Byrd, Tony Lenz, Earl Combs, Dickey and Ben Chapman.

Herb Pennock, Charley Ruffing, Vernon Gomez, Pipgras and the other pitchers, Tinker figures, will turn in the victories on the mound sufficient in number to shove the Yankees up front when the season ends next fall.

Big Ten Champs After Second Win

Chicago, Apr. 23 —(AP)—Illinois, the Big Ten's defending baseball champion, today sought its second straight victory of the season, meeting at Ann Arbor.

The Illini yesterday conquered Ohio State, 8 to 5, in eleven innings at Columbus, and needed a victory today to move into a tie with Indiana for first place. Indiana yesterday won its second straight, taking a battle of errors, 15 to 1, from Purdue at Lafayette. The Boilemmakers made eleven misplays, to six by the Hoosiers.

Northwestern, which yesterday defeated Western State Teachers of Kalamazoo, Mich., 9 to 8, was at Wisconsin today and Ohio State and Chicago were matched at Chicago.

DISEASE "AMERICANITIS"
Grand Rapids, Mich.—A nervous disease called "Americanitis" is sweeping the country in the wake of the depression. In the opinion of Dr. Fred Currier, neuro-psychiatrist here, Dr. Currier says the disease, a form of nervous disorder, is induced by constant worry.

Dick Grefe of Iowa State, Big Six football scoring champion last fall, made two spectacular touchdowns in the Cyclones' first formal spring scrimmage.

Minnesota Girl New Swim Threat
Virginia Minn. Apr. 23 —(AP)—A new Olympic women's swim threat has appeared in the person of 15-year-old Anne Goednick of Chris-holm Minn. high school.

Competing in the annual Virginia relay, her last night, the young speed star swam the 100-yard breast stroke in 1 minute 18.9 seconds for a new world mark. This was three tenths of a second better than the figure of one minute 19.2 seconds held by Agnes Garrity, New York.

Four A. A. U. timers clocked Miss Goednick and her time will be submitted for official recognition.

Rule Collins Not Suitable Fighter
Chicago, Apr. 23 —(AP)—A lightweight to replace Ray Collins of Erie, Pa., as an opponent for Tony Herrera, on the King Levinsky-Mickey Walker program at the Chicago Stadium April 29, today was being sought by Matchmaker Nate Lewis.

The Illinois State Athletic Commission decided Collins would not be a suitable opponent for the El Paso, Tex., boxer.

Cubs Ordered To Do Something Soon
Chicago, Apr. 23 —(AP)—Johnny Welch, young right-handed pitcher sent on option to Los Angeles by the Cubs, has bounced back again. Commissioner K. M. Landis decided Welch, who was out on option to Reading of the International League last year, had been out on option often enough. The Cubs either must keep or release him.

Soft Ball League To Be Organized
Managers of all of the soft ball teams, members of the last season's Municipal League, and managers of newly organized teams who have filed their applications for membership in new leagues to be organized this spring, are requested to meet Monday evening at 7:30 at Rink's coal office. It is expected that at this meeting the teams will be assigned to the leagues which are to be formed in order that play may be started soon.

START FUND FOR EX-SLAVE
Birmingham, Ala.—White friends have started a private pension fund for "Uncle" Simon Phillips, 85-year-old president of the Alabama ex-slaves association, after years of campaigning on his part for governmental pensions to all ex-slaves. Thirty-one people have agreed to pay a penny a week to the fund as long as "Uncle" Simon lives.

TWINS, 13, LIVE TOGETHER
Royal Oak, Mich.—Mrs. Elizabeth Waite and Mrs. Frances Schroder, 73-year-old twins, live together, look alike and dress alike and act alike.

The two spend most of their time sewing clothes for their children.

Andrew Jackson knew that his opponent was one of the best pistol shots in Tennessee, and that he, Jackson, would be his first. Being extremely thin man he dressed himself in a large loose-fitting frock coat, hoping that it would mislead Dickinson as he aimed for the heart. The plan worked out just that way. Dickinson's bullet went where he aimed, but Jackson's heart was not there. Only a rib was broken.

In olden times it was quite the custom to punish animals for crimes. In France, a sow was convicted of murdering a child, and was hanged. Her six pigs were accused of being accomplices, but were acquitted because of lack of evidence.

The new refreshment committee appointed by the president were: Mrs. Clarence Martz, Mrs. Emory Schnell and Mrs. William Degner.

Legion Auxiliary Notes

The local Auxiliary is entering a district carpet rag contest for which cash prizes will be given. The unit sending in the greatest amount of sewed rags in proportion to the size of the unit to be awarded $3 and the next $2. If any friend of the unit wish to help us in this work we will be grateful to them. The hospitals using carpet rags request that they be sewed into balls, each color separately, and not hit-and-miss, as is sometimes the custom. If you care to sew a ball of carpet rags, either leave it with Miss Mae Conlon at Kelley's store or hand it to some member of the local Auxiliary unit, who will turn in at the next meeting. We have about one and a half months to work on this project and your help will be much appreciated. The next meeting of the unit will be on May 11 with Mrs. Nellie Stewart.

Woman's Club Notes

The April Garden meeting of the Woman's Club was held at the home of Mrs. E. R. Buck. Roll call. "My Favorite Garden Verse," was answered with a variety of "garden verses" both poetry and prose, but each one full of the gardening spirit. Plans were discussed for the Iris show, to be held early in June and a committee on arrangements was appointed consisting of the following members—Miss Clara Lahman, Mrs. Romanza Greeley, Mrs. Grace Brecunier, and Mrs.

Alfonso Broke? Not in Cairo!

Word comes from Paris that frozen assets and other effects of the depression have placed the family of ex-King Alfonso in poverty row—that is, comparatively speaking. But this exclusive picture of Alfonso, taken during an extensive junket along the shores of the Mediterranean Sea, shows him exiting from Shepard's Hotel, Cairo, Egypt, where rates are stiffish, even for royal exiles. Shown with him is Princess Sixte de Bourbon, heiress of the famous French family of de La Rochefoucauld, whose husband is a descendant of the Bourbon branch which once ruled the duchy of Parme. Princess Sixte was a member of the party which helped Alfonso forget his cares during a vacation that ended recently.

Ruth Hussey.

The George Washington Memorial Tree Planting plan was also discussed somewhat as well as a Washington Memorial program, which is planned for sometime this summer, the date to be announced later. Mrs. Sunday, Mrs. Hanson and Mrs. Greeley were appointed as a committee to work out the plan. If there are more trees to be posted as "Washington Memorial Trees" please report them to the committee. Trees planted in 1931 or 1932 may be listed.

A "May Breakfast" is planned for club members and their guests, to be held on the date of May 16 garden meeting. Further announcement will follow later. The program of the day was in charge of Mrs. Grace Brecunier, Garden chairman, and the numbers were all of interest to garden makers.

The first was "Care of House Plants" by Miss Clara Lahman, and contained detailed and helpful instructions as to soil, management and handling necessary to the thrifty growth of various house-growing plants of both foliage and flowering kinds. Mrs. E. R. Buck gave an article on "Summer-time Bloom" which was full of the real spirit of the summer garden. Mrs. Elizabeth Sunday presented a paper on "Art in the Garden" giving the seven basic principles of art—unity, variety, proportion, harmony, appropriateness and character—as applied to garden and home grounds by some of the best landscape artists of the country.

Mrs. W. L. Moore and Mrs. F. J. Blocher gave two delightful piano duets, after which came the "Seed to a contact of events. The play cast is working on this play very strenuously, which is being ably directed by Miss Catherine Jewell. The leading roles, Patricia and Jimmy will be played by June Conlon and Virgil Wasson, respectively. Elbert Hastings, played by Harold Buck, along with the part of Elsie Crowder taken by Ruth Cupp, forms the second leading team. The entire cast will be published later.

Obituary
Mrs. Lee Boyer, sister of Mrs. Joel Senger and Mrs. Frank Group, expired Wednesday night at her home in Lena, Ill., following an illness of a few months, during which two operations were endured. Her husband, a son and a daughter survive. The deceased was born in Franklin Grove and grew to womanhood here. Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon at Lena.

Katherine C. Kreitzer was born in Franklin Grove on May 21, 1862. She was married to Lee Boyer on March 6, 1884. She leaves to mourn her passing: her husband and two children, J. J. Boyer of Freeport, and Margaret Raymer of Lena, also three grandchildren—Rosalee and Richard Boyer, and Lowell Raymer; two sisters—Mrs. Anna Group and Mrs. Rose Sanger of Franklin Grove; one brother—Frank Kreitzer of Rochelle. One brother, George Kreitzer of Dixon preceded her in death about three years ago.

The Strongest Backbone Any Car Ever Had

At first motor cars had just frames. Then came the double-drop frame. Next truss frames. Then X-frames.

Now Nash steps out ahead with the new X-Dual frame—a super-durable, super-rigid and twist-proof type.

Look it over carefully when you come in to see the new Nash models.

For this X-Dual frame is new—and different—the strongest frame ever built. The massive inside bridge-girders extend clear from the front cross-member to the rear kick-up—virtually a double frame.

Everyone interested in motor cars should surely see this new Nash X-Dual frame—and then drive this car. All models are longer, lower, with faster acceleration, and greater power and speed.

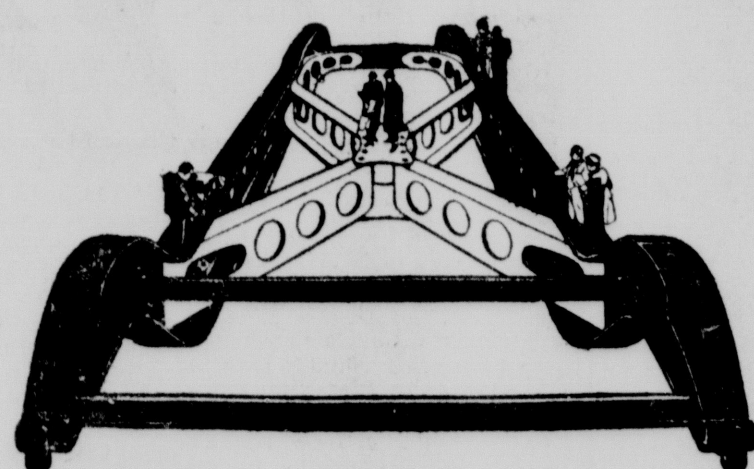

Wheelbases range from 116 inches to 142 inches and prices from $777 to $2055, at the factory.
